

What will you be feeding your child?

Blood or milk?

While normal children grow up on milk, children with Thalassaemia are literally fed with blood transfusions - every month - for the rest of their life!

One in 20 Malaysians carry the Thalassaemia gene. When 2 carriers start a family, there is a high chance that for every pregnancy, their baby will have Thalassaemia - a life threatening condition.

Ask your doctor for the facts and get tested for Thalassaemia today!
