

A

CAUTION!

PREVENT EVD INFECTION
(Ebola Virus Disease)

Kindly be alerted if you had recently arrived from the countries affected by EVD (i.e. the West African countries). Symptoms of EVD can appear from 2 to 21 days after exposure:

- Fever
- Joint aches
- Headache
- Muscle aches
- Intense weakness
- Vomiting
- Diarrhoea
- Rashes
- Bleeding

How do you get the ebola virus?

Direct contact with:

- Bodily fluids of a person who is sick with or has died from EVD (e.g. blood, vomit, pee, poop and other fluids).
- Objects contaminated with the virus (e.g. needles, medical equipment etc.).
- Infected animals (by contact with blood or fluids or infected meats).

Monitor your health status and seek medical attention IMMEDIATELY from the nearest health facility for further assessment if you have the symptoms as mentioned.
